USE HOLDS GARBAGE BILL; CRISIS AT HAND

Measures Calculated to Permit Competition on the New Contract Retained in Committee, While Delay Works Favorably to Butler Interest.

CONTRACT LAPSES NOV. 14;
TIME FOR ACTION IS BRIEF

Council Hurredly Passed the Bill, Repeated Efforts to Have the Butler House Sanitary Committee Report It Have Failed.

Although the present garbage reduction act expires Nov. 14, the sanitary committee of the House of Delegates is holding up the bill providing for a new system of garbage disposal designed to begin and continue for 15 years.

Committee has held the bill without action since July 16, and there are no indications that it intends to report the measure favorably or unfavorably in the future.

Failure of the Senate to pass the bill and the action of the city, the city will be compelled to make another temporary contract with the Louis Sanitary Co., or allow the company it collects into the river.

The Butler House Sanitary Co., a Butler corporation, has the present contract by reason of a non-military policy with legislation, and is the contractor for reduction of garbage for about a dozen years consecutively, a contract which has been exceedingly remunerative.

The passage of the present bill would give the company, like Orla, with the competition gone. Its large plant situated south of St. Louis, a plant which has been prominent in the vigorous and resolute opposition against it by residents of the city.

Opposition in the House of Delegates is for the disposal of the garbage distance of not less than five miles of the city limits.

The sanitary company could not bid for a contract under such an ordinance without moving its plant into the woods somewhere.

Political gossip credits the trouble encountered by the bill in running the house subject to Butler influences. The sanitary committee is a strong Butler institution.

Committee of Delegates, Tschemacher, French, McFerren, Weller, Clegg, and McGinnis, McFerren, leader of the committee, Mr. A. Butler, leader and representative of the Democratic city central committee.

In a committee talk about the City Hall at the last meeting after November 14,

Last Friday night Delegates Hammerstein offered a resolution demanding that the sanitary committee report the bill at once.

It was voted down.

The resolution was prompted by the Tenth Ward Improvement Association.

10 officials say they will cause a similar resolution to be introduced each meeting until some action is taken.

Persons interested in the passage of the bill who have talked to the members of the committee say that the committee may have been too busy to have a meeting, but that they will have one soon.

On the other Friday night several members of the committee against the Hammerstein readiness were reasons for doing so.

One of the main reasons was that they did not like the previous bill which provided for hauling garbage through the streets to three central stations and then hauled them out into the country.

Many persons interested in the pas-age of the bill said the same to the fact that it would only cost the city an additional $100,000 a month.

It is almost a counterpart of the present bill, after passing both houses.

Mr. Butler pronounced it illegal.

$100,000 AIRSHIP RACES TO BE RUN

Chief of Aeronautics Declares Contests Will Positively Be Brought Off.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT LOST

Tomlinson's Diary Shows Washington Is Out of Its Place on the Map.

Ernest Hudson, the new chief of aeronautics at the World's Fair, says the big airship race for the $100,000 cash prize will be run.

Mr. Hudson stated Tuesday that they had until Sept. 20 in which to run the race, and that the time could be extended by the Exposition company.

He says he has several entries, and that some of the people entered have qualified by sailing a dirigible airship a distance of a mile and return.

Dr. Gretsch, of San Francisco, has entered and qualified. Capt. T. S. Baldwin of San Francisco has entered, and Mr. Hudson believes he will be able to qualify.

The Belpointe airship is at Fair, and Mr. Hudson says its inventor is an active and eligible participant for the prize.

These statements are made in answer to the reported statement by Prof. Carl Myers, former chief of the department of aeronautics, that only one person eligible to start in the contest.

Mr. Hudson says that Prof. Myers is not eligible, as he has no entries, and that he does not believe the professor has qualified for the race.

These statements are made in answer to the reported statement by Prof. Carl Myers, former chief of the department of aeronautics, that only one person eligible to start in the contest.

HORSES JOIN JUDGES 4 CLASSES

Trophy Is to Be Presented Belgium Breeders for Interest Displayed in Exhibit.

Large crowds continue to visit the horse awards at the World's Fair grounds and the awards meet. Tuesday morning attracted great interest. Saddlers, thoroughbred, draft and coach horses were judged this morning.

As an appreciation of the interest and active participation of the Belgium breeders, the Exposition management intends to present an appropriate trophy to the Belgium commissioner. The following quotation will be engraved on the souvenir:

"This trophy is presented to the Society of Cheval de Trait by the Universal Exposition for the very great participation of Belgian draft stallions and mares, exhibited at the World's Fair, and for the brilliant participation of the Belgian division of the mounted sharpshooters. In up nearly 30,000 men, the regiments will be raised in regiments of the First Army given to Flanck, Thiel, and for Vladivostok, but upon the rest of Gen. Kuroptkin, it will be made.

DISCOURAGED AT LENGTH OF PORT ARTHUR

Editor of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ENRON, Aug. 20.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, writing morning, says:

According to information from reliable sources, the Japanese general attack on Arthur was repulsed with heavy losses. They only captured two small forts situated to the north and south of the fort from which it was believed that they were. It is believed that they were 1000 and 1500 and that the Japanese cannot hold them owing to the dominating fire from the forts on either side.

The Japanese have abandoned their confidence in the immediate capture of the fortresses.

"It is officially stated that Gen. Stoeckel, making a hero of himself, said that the scheme of defense is perfect, and that the losses are enormous."

SIAMIS SAID TO BE ABANDONING LIAOYANG

Editor of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ENRON, Aug. 20.—The Daily Express correspondent at St. Petersburg sends a dispatch dated Aug. 28 via Eydkuhnen on the 10th of October.

"The Russian army has commenced to retreat from Liaoyang on Mukden. Since Saturday the 10th of October, the Chinese have sent north and columns of men are on the march. Liaoyang lies too low for success in defense. All the food stores are being withdrawn and the supplies of the army have been left in Liaoyang in position to fight rear guard battle."

Editor of the Daily Telegraph correspondent at Shanghai writes:

"It is reported that the Japanese have destroyed the railway bridges north of Liaoyang."

RUSSIAN VETERAN RIDICULES SOME OF WAR EXAGGERATIONS

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 20.—Gen. Klimov, the former governor-general of Manchuria, who had balked

White Russia, now says that he has no more tales of exploits, etc., and says that the war is a dead loss.

He refers to one correspondent who scolded the Cossacks' lances and swords as being blunted on shirts of worn Japanese officers, and says that the Cossacks' lances and swords are used to distract the Russian fire.

He refers to another who said the Japanese gun "carry a map of the whole of Manchuria on every range marked on it."

Dr. Klimov, who is himself a partisan of the bayonet, takes issue with the assertions that the Japanese have a desire for a second war, and says that the Japanese evidently understand its better than the Russians, knowing only of attacking an enemy from long distance without preliminary.

He says the Japanese of the sword are accustomed to cold steel and produced some famous swordsmen and swordmakers.

JAPANESE LOST 2000 MEN IN THE BATTLE OF ANPING

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—The Japanese lost 2000 men killed or wounded at the battle of Anping. The Russian losses have not been estimated, but are said to have been heavy.

The Japanese captured eight guns at Anping and eight at Anshanshan.

ARTH-SHAKES PAY QUEER PRANKS ON EARTHQUAKE RECORD

Every Time Anybody Fires a Gun at the World's Fair, Dr. Jackson Has a Full Sized Earthquake Recorded on His Nervous Machine.

BY ROSE MARION.

ARTH-SHAKES masquerading as earthquakes, play jokes on the seismographic record of Dr. Roman Jackson, in charge of the Philippine weather bureau at the World's Fair.

Don't get things confused. Dr. Jackson won't run a gun in opposition to our friend, Dr. Bowie.

He couldn't if he so desired. He has no weather bird. He has no wish to do so.

So he assured me. He just makes weather records and prognostications for the Philippine section of the Fair.

Less than three months ago Dr. Jackson was a student at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C. He graduated from there with high honors and some medals.

Anxiously Dr. Jackson is waiting for a report of an earthquake Saturday afternoon when the quake-needle was especially busy. He wants to know the range of the term.

He knows all about aerometers, barometers, thermometers, seismographs, seismographs and all the other record-making instruments valuable to weather forecasters. Also he knows law. He graduated in that in June.

Soon as I heard about the law knowledge I said, "You study weather for pleasure, law will be your work?"

"I studied law for pleasure," he corrected me.

Fame? "What will be your profession, then?" he demanded, unwilling to make more guesses.

He was undecided as yet, the future must tell that," he replied.

I looked at his boyish brown face and concluded that there was much future there—score and ten meant anything in the age line in the Philippines.

In his black hair I saw a white one. I looked close. There were many of the white kind.

At once I asked his age. He couldn't tell if he wanted to. He has yet some months to live before he will be of age.

Yet he's an authority on seismographs. He has two. One, a great big one that marks all the disturbances in earth disturbances in the world. The other, that has especially to do with local earthquakes.

ILLINOIS MAN HAS LEPROSY.

State Board of Health Takes Immediate Quarantine Measures.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 20.—A case of supposed leprosy was reported to the state board of health from La Salle by an attorney for the man, who is a native of Poland, 35 years old, and says that the disease from which he now suffers made his appearance in 1900.

Dr. E. F. Baker, inspector of the board, has established quarantine at La Salle.

Buttons Made Divorce Ground.

In his petition for divorce filed at Clayton, Henry W. Ledbetter alleges that his wife, a widow, took off a button which came off his coat, although she had married and cared for the clothing of another man.

The couple were married at Swedesburg, Pa., on Aug. 14, 1900, and have been separated within two years of that time, the wife placing all her clothing outside the house, telling him to take it and leave.

CROWD COMING CHICAGO DAY

Mayor Harrison Promises a Big Delegation to the Fair.

Chicago day at the World's Fair will be Oct. 8, and Mayor Harrison gives assurance that he will do all in his power to send a large Chicago delegation to the Exposition on that day.

The special committee, headed by Mayor Wells, which went to Chicago and invited Mayors of all the cities in the country to the Fair, returned Tuesday. Besides Mayor Wells, there were Corwin H. Peacock, V. C. Price, Frank J. Dredge and Manley, T. D. Dement, Implement Co., W. W. Wulff Co., Wood Bros. Steel Casting Co., C. H. W. Weipolt, Whitehead Bros. and Oscar Nester Glass Works.

The following implements firms will close:

John Deere Plow Co., Kingman St. Louis, Missouri Moline Plow Co., Marlin & Orndorff Co., D. M. Osborne & Co., Oliver Dredge & Manley, T. D. Dement Implement Co., W. W. Wulff Co., Wood Bros. Steel Casting Co., C. H. W. Weipolt, Whitehead Bros. and Oscar Nester Glass Works.

There are over one hundred cases on the docket. It would be the part of Attorney-General M. C. Barnes to have an advanced case, as the United States could do any more than it has by the early decision of the case and there is no doubt it might lose by having the highest court in the land dissolve the injunction.

About the only reason for the trust not to close is that the trust grew out of the fact that the trust made arrangements to the repeated requests of the cities of the supreme court for the money needed to have the record reduced to printed pages. It is the trust that the court regarded the order of Judge Grosscup with so little concern that it would let the matter go by default.

In the regular order of procedure the supreme court the case will come up for hearing about the middle of October.

It would be possible, it is thought, for the trust to have the injunction removed, said, is the fear that perhaps no one will be a president in the White House who will have a real desire to make combinations in restraint of interstate commerce. With an injunction removed, such a president could do what was making the life of a trust very unhappy.

Black Silks With Burnt Edges!

A novel sale that eclipses anything of the sort ever known in St. Louis! Fire in a Big Silk Factory at Paterson, N. J., destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of valuable silks. From the salvage we secured 150 pieces of magnificent black crepe de chine, which were scorched along the edges—some burnt to the depth of a half inch or inch, but the majority of pieces scarcely hurt at all—practically perfect.

The original width was full 24 inches and the goods were made to sell at One Dollar a Yard.

Here's a chance you'll not have again once in a hundred years! One of the most sensational bargains ever known at Nugents'—or anywhere else! Wednesday we offer these superb Black Silks in two lots (according to the extent of damage) at $2 Venetians at $1.25!

The manufacturer has decided to discontinue making this particular quality, because of the advance in price of the yarn from which it is made, making it impossible for him to sell it at the same figure as heretofore.

He had 54 pieces left (but in only two shades of navy blue) and we scooped it up at a bargain price! The goods are 58 inches wide and in 10-ounce weight—just right for Fall! Here's a rare chance to buy a regular $2 quality Navy Blue Venetian at a yard.....

YOUTH RECEIVED $1100 ON "FAKE" MONEY ORDERS

E. S. Black, a Soda Fountain Clerk Admits Conspiracy With Young Telegraph Operator From Whom He Received Telegrams Which He Turned Into Cash.

E. S. Black, a soda fountain clerk from Atlanta, Ga., told the police Tuesday a surprise story of how two youths planned and committed a crime.

Black, who is 20 years old, was arrested at Little Rock, Ark., last Saturday at the request of the Western Union Telegraph Co., which charges him with having defrauded the company out of $1100 with fake money order telegrams.

Joseph Laney, whom Black says was his confederate in the crime, is in jail at Atlanta, and will be taken to Dallas, Tex.

Black's story is that two weeks ago he met Laney, who is 15 years of age, and the son of an employee of the Western Union at Dallas, here on St. Louis.

He says they went to the Lindell Hotel, where he divided $100 with Laney. This money, he says, they had secured in this way.

Laney was a receiving clerk in the Western Union office at Dallas, and became acquainted with Black. Black says they wanted money, and that they planned to sell it with fake money order telegrams.

Black says he left Dallas and went to Memphis, Tenn., where Laney wired him $300.

He says that worked all right, though neither of them had put up a cent, the payment being made by the agent at Memphis upon the information from the Dallas office that the money had been deposited.

Black says Laney was furnishing this information to the police, and he was arrested.

From Memphis Black says he went to Chicago, where he received $400 from Laney. He came from Chicago to St. Louis, where Laney sent him another $400.

Black's story came on from Dallas and met him for a division of the spoils.

Judge Moore continued Black's case until September 7.

"SAY, IT'S GREAT," SHOUTED NEWSIES

Delighted Lads at Boer War Show Made Noise Almost Equal to That of Musketry.

The St. Louis newsboys stormed the Boer War battlements Monday night in the basement of the Plaza on St. Louis and up Art Hill and on the Boer encampment. The day was spent in games, dancing, and to quiet them off.

The management of the Boer War had invited the newsboys to come and see the trouble, and not a boy who was able to walk hung back in the least. They realized that as the war people had invited them, there would be disappointment if they declined, and they hate to disappoint an audience.

They were all nicely seated before war was declared, when a fat terrier dog ran into the room, and the newsboys were all up and shouting, to express their approval of the dog.

A picnic and outing was given by a party of young people on Sunday at Spanish Lake, Ill. The party was chaperoned by Mr. L. Oleszak and Mrs. E. Saunders.

Give the adding machines a stunt on St. Louis Day.

The Archbishop of Canterbury did not have time, after landing in New York, to visit the Potter subway and brass up.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote that Thomas Jefferson was "timid and shifty." But doubtless most men seem timid to a buster.

It is the garbage of action hill "held up" in the House elegates? Do the delegates want the city "held up" with that emergency contract?

all of Thomas Jefferson's statements are entitled to as much credence as his farce reflections upon Judge Parker, he dealing in poison of the basest kind.

One in Louisian with 20 badges on St. Louis Day will not look so well as 20 St. Louisians with one badge each. Every St. Louisian should be at the Exposition that day.

If Chicago Day at the St. Louis Exposition beats Chicago Day at the Chicago Exposition, or even St. Louis Day at the St. Louis Exposition, there will be no mourning in St. Louis.

which is a mile nearer Washington than either of the balloons that flew and fluttered, and not even strayed. This is very annoying, but aeronautics full of annoyances, anyhow.

The deposition of the Japanese army surgeons to put out

Must the whole world learn from Japan the art of war?

INVESTING IN ROOSEVELT.

The information published in New York concerning the amount of money now on hand and to be raised by the Republican national committee indicates an expansion of the political slush fund which is appalling. It indicates also a confidence in Roosevelt and the Republican party on the part of the great capitalist combinations which should make plain citizens think.

According to the New York newspaper, which credits its information to reliable sources, Mr. Cortelyou has obtained for the Roosevelt campaign $6,750,000, and expects to obtain $10,000,000. The amount already subscribed came from the Standard Oil, the Steel, the Sugar, the Tobacco, the Paper, the Coal Trusts, the big banks and manufacturers.

The Republican slush fund this year now exceeds by $750,000 the Hance fund of 1896, which disgraced American politics, and by $1,750,000 the Republican fund of 1900.

What motive could induce the trusts to put so much money into a campaign except the expectation of profit through governmental action, or inaction? To what use could so vast a sum be put except the corrupting of voters?

If $10,000,000, or one-half of that amount, is expended by the Republican committee this year it will mark a greater descent on the part of Mr. Roosevelt than has been dreamt of. Mr. Roosevelt once enjoyed the honor of being feared and distrusted by the trusts. If they now think him a safe and profitable political investment, his surrender, indicated by his utterances and his cabinet changes, is more abject than was suspected.

All other presidents look small to Mr. Roosevelt, but the American people have meant well in electing his inferiors. They waited patiently for him to be born.

The average of 280,000 people arriving at Union Station daily is likely to be greatly increased in our delightful autumn.

The boasts of a domain upon which the sun never sets should be left to the English.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

TRY THE WOMEN'S EXCHANGE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
If the "Widow" who "is struggling to educate two children" will furnish evidence that she is deserving I think she will find sale for her "quantity of jelly of most exquisite flavor" at the women's exchange, Grand and Olive.

ANNA S. HURSEY.

NOISY GRAVELED STREETS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Cote Brilliante avenue in front of my residence and from Taylor avenue to Cora avenue and the latter as far as Easton, have been covered with a "top-dressing" of gravel the size of a cobble stone, not a fine one. The result is that any wagon makes the noise of a piece of heavy armor. The noise is so great that with the windows open, no one can sleep continuously. Who was so foolish on the part of your city as to allow such a top-dressing to cover our streets? It is a pity to "work" it off on the average citizen to keep his mouth shut? My best regards to both.

AUGUST E. GANS, C. E.

LAUNDRY WORKERS WANT A REST.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I ask the laundry, both large and small, to give their help, from the office to washroom, a holiday on Sept. 15. Their hours are long and the work "force," and the workers human. Close down the plants on St. Louis day and let the workers enjoy a day at the fair.

M. A.

BADGES FOR ST. LOUISANS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would suggest that some button or badge be made, and that St. Louisans wear it at all times, with some inscription volunteering information to visitors. Some time ago I saw a button which read "I am a good citizen in St. Louis—Ask me" and thought it a good idea, but have never been able to find another. I have not seen another of the kind. Many times I have wanted to give information to strangers whom I could see desired it, but with a hesitancy about telling it, while if I had a badge it would not be so difficult. Who would not be glad to know that St. Louis should wear one. I am a woman and will be only too glad to wear one and give all the information I can to the stranger.

chances, however, are against such a division of public sentiment. The conditions which made it possible for the Republicans to lose the House in 1878 and seat Hayes do not exist today, and the party that elects a majority of the House is likely to elect its candidate for President.

Aggressive campaigns in the congressional districts help the national ticket, and this is an important fact that the Democratic committee should not disregard.

NOW, WHAT DO YOU SAY?

By C. G. Bush, World and Post-Dispatch Cartoonist.

REFORM IS NECESSARY, VI.

Postmaster-General Payne Follows the Example of the President and the Pension Commission in Legislating by Order.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Absolutely disregarding the law and the decisions of the courts, Postmaster-General Payne is legislating by "executive order." He is following the precedent established by the President and the Pension Commission in 1878, when the party that elected him to the Senate failed to elect a majority of the representatives. Two years later the Democrats succeeded in retaining their control of the House and in capturing the Senate as well.

It is possible for the Democrats to elect Judge Parker in November and lose the House, and it is also possible for the Republicans to elect Mr. Roosevelt while losing at the same time their majority in the popular branch of the legislative department.

The chances, however, are against such a division of public sentiment. The conditions which made it possible for the Republicans to lose the House in 1878 and seat Hayes do not exist today, and the party that elects a majority of the House is likely to elect its candidate for President.

Aggressive campaigns in the congressional districts help the national ticket, and this is an important fact that the Democratic committee should not disregard.

THE NATION'S GUEST.

The arrival in New York yesterday of 61 Hungarian deputies, en route to the Parliamentary Congress in St. Louis, and the presence in the country of the lower Austrian Industrial Association, which has been for some days studying the business methods of the metropolis, show anew the interest which Europe takes in our growth and progress.

The Austrian visitors are concerned with matters of trade, commerce and manufacture, wherein the new world has much to teach the old, and the old world, perhaps quite as much, to teach the new. The Hungarian statesmen, who are soon to be joined by Count Apponyi, the famous orator and parliamentary leader of the opposition, are more concerned with our political methods and ideals.

Not without reason is the keen interest the Hungarians show in the study of politics, since to political alertness quite as much as to military valor they owe their very life as a nation. It is but 27 years since the framing of the first Ausgleich with Austria placed Hungary upon the basis of a free nation; and in the single generation of her free existence her progress in wealth and diffused prosperity has not been more remarkable than the realization of Hungarian ideals in education, in art and in literature. And both are the marvel of Europe.

America not so many years ago meant to the peoples of the old world an object of study and war-won freedom. It is significant of progress that these visits are now made to study the arts and ways of peace. The country welcomes her guests, and New York is fortunate in being the first to hold out the hand to them.

MR. HILL'S RETIREMENT.

Judge Parker retired David B. Hill from the leadership of his party in this state when he sent his gold standard telegram to Mr. Sheehan instead of to the ex-governor. Mr. Hill has now announced his retirement from office-seeking or office-holding on the 1st of next January. The Evening Post, accepting the announcement as both sincere and timely, says:

"Nothing in his life became him like the leaving it."

This would be true with a malignant significance if Mr. Hill should be able to end his career by carrying into effect his idea of nominating Stanchfield for governor and Herrick for chief judge. For in procuring the second nomination of his former partner and long time tool for governor, and in punishing Judge Cullinan from his party, he has given his enemies a new weapon. That he would

THE CLUBWOMAN'S VIEWS

By THE SOCIETY GIRL

"IN ONE OF his books," said the Society Girl, "Mr. Roosevelt says that Thomas Jefferson was the most incapable executive who ever filled the president's chair."

"Even Mr. Roosevelt's best friends," said the Clubwoman, "admit that he sometimes acts like himself. But did you see that Carrie Nation has written a book? Well, she has, and she moralizes her married life. She says she didn't find her first husband the lover she had expected. Mr. Brown said a man could stand pins in a belt, but if every time he reached around his wife he found a hatchet on the other side he was likely to quit reaching. Mrs. Nation says so many wives are disappointed because their husbands change after marriage. "There's no doubt that they do, my dear. When a man promises to love, honor and cherish a woman, he also promises to provide for her. I know several women who have been astonished and grieved to find that this involved work which took their husbands away from home most of the day, and that the husbands even were thinking about their business some times when the wives were telling them what Mrs. Jones had said about Mrs. Smith and so completely lost the point."

"It seems that the Princess Charlotte, the Kaiser's sister, has written a book, too, on married money. Nation's remedy for unhappy married life is divorce. You know she has been married twice and is again single. But the princess believes in polygamy. 'Why?' asked the Society Girl.

"He said once was enough for him. Wasn't that nice?"

"But why?" asked the Society Girl, "did President Roosevelt remind you of Carrie Nation?"

"I was wondering," said the Clubwoman, "if a Big Stick wouldn't have prevented us ever hearing of the Hatchet."

United Mine Workers Dismiss Application for Injunction Against Importation of Labor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 20.—The application for injunction against the Ziegler Mining Co. to stop the importation of laborers for the purpose of breaking strike at the Lodge, who brought the suit in retaliation for the injunction secured by the company against the striking miners, was dismissed yesterday.

As told in the late editions of Monday's Post-Dispatch, the miners, who brought the suit in retaliation for the injunction secured by the company against the striking miners, requested the injunction.

The miners insist that this action does not mean that they have given up their right.

Winter Starts in Minnesota.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 20.—A fall of snow, the first of the fall, occurred at Duluth last night. Crosses were damaged in the snow, and the railroad tracks were closed. Vines and heavy frosts are reported from other western Mesaba range points.

Not only has Mr. Lodge not been permitted to speak, but he must abandon his position and reciprocity with Canada. He has been informed that the situation in Massachusetts is more serious than in Maine, and that the state may easily become doubtful if the Democrats should nominate Richard Olney for governor, as they have been planning to do.

Under the leadership of Henry M. Whitney, a brother of the late William C. Whitney, and president of the Boston chamber of commerce, Representative Foss and other Republicans, petitions have been circulated in Massachusetts, and they have been signed by Republicans. In order to head off this movement before the national ticket is impossibly Senator Lodge has been told that the state convention in Massachusetts must place in its platform a strong plank favoring reciprocity.

Senator Lodge was instrumental in defeating the reciprocity treaties with Canada and Newfoundland when they were presented to the Senate, and he has been instrumental in defeating the same in the House. He explained recently that he fought those treaties because he thought they involved a bad bargain for this country. It was understood last night that Mr. Roosevelt, in view of the news of the determination of the campaign managers to Senator Lodge during his visit to the national headquarters, and that Mr. Lodge will hear more when he visits at the national Republican headquarters.

A Fable.

Once there was a poor but honest young man who was in love with a girl named Susie. The young man, to save money, smoked cheap cigars—Very Cheap. One night, while calling on his beloved, her father came out on the porch and hinted that he would like a smoke. Before he thought what the awful consequences might be, the young man gave him a "three-fer." When the old gentleman had gone the young fellow said, "Oh, goodness!" or words to that effect.—Susie, I gave your father a pack Cigar. It will make him sick, but we will not let us Wed." There is danger," replied Susan, "but be brave and try him." Next day the young lover called on the old gentleman. Nervously switching his fingers he said: "Oh, Corn-husker, that cigar—." "Yes, it was 'Very Cheap,'" interrupted the old man. "Yes," the young man said. "But I—" "Never mind," said Susie's Papa, "you are a saving youth. I am glad to see you do not waste money on high-priced cigars." But why prolong it? They were married and lived happily ever afterwards. Moral: Don't bemoan your fate ahead of time.—Kansas City Times.

Destruction of Terms.

From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.
"No orator," said the astute Boston delegate with the perfumed jaw, "should so lose himself amid the vagaries of his own ratiocinations as to obscure the trend of his remarks to his audience. He should often elate the audience, always amuse them. You are a strange sort of orator, sir. I thought you were a stranger, but you are a friend. The Kansas delegate in the theater, with the straw in his mouth, when you chewed your cabin, spit it out or swallow it."

And when the astute delegate revived his signed articles of agreement.

of Abdul Hamid, the present Sultan, who then ascended the throne.

Abdul took particular pains to see that Murad should not escape as there was a strong party in the empire who secretly favored his cause and believed the charge of treason was only a pretense to cover up by Hamid to further his ambitions.

Abdul was for putting his brother to death immediately after the deposition was accomplished, but some of his counselors warned him that such extreme measures would surely result in his assassination. This was enough to deter him in his purpose.

The cruelty of Abdul did not stop with his brother, but was extended to Murad's daughter, whom he married, greatly against her will, to a notorious man named No one ever mentioned Murad's name in Abdul's presence. It would have cost him his head. It was eliminated from all books, circulars, etc., the stone tablet on which the stone was left untouched to make the populace forget it entirely.

In the meantime, in the throne Abdul was a disciple of the "black art" and at his order, a sorcerer made him a wax image of his brother and caused him to strike this image with a thorn brush meanwhile uttering incantations. There is a legend in Turkey that this was done to cast a spell of madness over the Sultan.

TAGGART'S KINGDOM IS A BUSY PLACE

Democratic National Headquarters Just Opened in New York Are Full of Activity.

HARD TO REACH THE CHAIRMAN

Three Floors of Big Building Are Needed for Committee's Work, Which Is Now Well Begun.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Of all the rooms in the Democratic national headquarters that of Chairman Taggart is the most secret, and that much burdened man sat there yesterday with his feet on a bright Turkey rug, his eyes on a small steel safe no larger than the one in the Republican headquarters—and his eyes filled with the noise of hammering carpenters.

Mr. Taggart wore a white flannel jacket, and the smile of his blue eyes was as a summer sea. It was impossible to get into his den save through somebody else's room and, with 2300 applications for positions on file, that arrangement was necessary.

The marble building in which the Democratic national headquarters is opposite to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and about 400 feet away from August Belmont's residence on the same street.

Headquarters Occupies Three Floors.

Three floors have been taken by the national committee, a basement for packing and unpacking supplies and literature; the second floor for the speakers' bureau, the literary bureau, the mailing room, stenographers, auditors, bookkeepers and the third floor for the fighting captains of the party.

It was on the third floor that the work was done yesterday. But the carpenters and furniture movers were supreme.

The three front rooms, large, sunny and commanding the entrance to the Waldorf-Astoria are given up to Mr. Belmont, chairman of the executive committee; Delancey Nicoll, vice-chairman, and August Belmont of the executive committee. These three rooms are occupied in the corridor, just outside of Mr. Sheehan's room, is the waiting place for visitors, the telephone room and the office of Sergeant-at-Arms Martin.

In the rear of Mr. Nicoll's room, and separated from it by a little corridor, is a stenographer's room, a file room and a long room, temporarily given up to Mr. McConville's speakers' bureau and G. F. Peck's literary bureau. The rear room of the floor is occupied by the offices of Secretary Urey Woodson and Assistant Secretary Sefton.

At the front of Mr. Belmont's fine front room is the windowless den of Mr. Fanning, who was brought from Indiana to be the speaker's bureau manager and just back of that is Mr. Taggart's room, the most sheltered nook in the place.

Bustle of the Campaign Begun.

There was a good deal of movement and chatter in the large room where the speakers and press bureaus are set, and the doors were open, letting in a great deal of energy.

There was a swarm of visitors in the corridor, too, and some faces not often seen in Democratic headquarters. But, for the most part, things were inert. Mr. Sheehan was off to the Day's jollification in West Virginia. Mr. Belmont went to his downtown office early in the day. Mr. Nicoll talked with men who had campaign ideas to offer, and Mr. Taggart smoothed down offended Democrats or uttered遁词.

In spite of the fact that the Democratic campaign managers are really working in the unbroken quietness, proof of which the janitor's mattress lies doubled up in Secretary Woodson's office, the work is not done. The rear room of the floor is ready for the packers, there will be two or three hundred persons at work in the headquarters.

"There's one thing sure," said Chairman Taggart, as he surveyed the busy scene, "we won't need any money down here this year. It won't be that kind of a campaign."

DANGER IN MILK.

Ordinary cow's milk is especially dangerous in the hot summer months. Disease germs flourish in Tuberculosis bacilli and germs that breed intestinal diseases are prevalent in milk. The health of babies and children whose sustenance depends on milk is thus gravely endangered.

It is the best solution of the milk problem. It is prepared from the choicest dairies in the famous Fox River Valley and the Wabash Country. The highest scientific and sanitary methods are used in the preparation, the milk being reduced to rich cream by evaporation, and perfectly sterilized. Ten thousand barrels are given by such authorities as Prof. Haines of Rush Medical College, Dr. Howe of the Chicago Foundlings Home, and scores of other noted physicians.
